In the Bixler family, the women have taken over the job of raking the leaves.

The Spirit of American Youth . . .

Madison Heights' seventh year brought many memorable and exciting experiences, enthusiastically planned and enjoyed by the students.

Homecoming was the best yet. Seniors took first place with their guillotine float, and Anita Miller, a junior, wore the Queen's crown. The annual Homecoming soc hop followed the game with Marion.

In November the Senior Class successfully presented "Stage Door," preceding the opening of basketball season and the crowning of the second Yearbook Queen. Christmas brought elaborate decorations and the Senior Christmas Dance.

Colorful decorations and dress again dominated the halls during Scarlet and Black Week, followed by the boys' week of heaven -- Coed Week.

The Junior-Senior Prom, "A Southern Plantation," and Senior Week climaxed a wonderful and eventful school year.

Promotes Competition . . .

The annual mud-tug contest staged between the junior and senior boys supplied plenty of laughter and entertainment for everyone present. Excitement and team support were at their peaks. Following many minutes of painful deliberation, the juniors were finally subjected to a fine quality of MUD.

Catching everyone's attention as they enter the main lobby is a large mosiac pirate head containing more than 7,700 blue, red, and brown square tiles. It is a gift of the class of '62.

Establishes Tradition . . .

The Spirit of American Youth filled the 1962-63 school year as new teachers and larger classes participated in soc-hops, football and basketball games, pep sessions, and convos.

Eser Baysal left her home in Turkey to become a member of the graduating class of 1963, and Mandy Wellborn spent the summer in Italy as an exchange student where she studied the language, customs and traditions of the country.

The spirit of the students at Madison Heights was at a peak when the band took second place honors at the State Fair and during Scarlet and Black Week when the hope of basketball victory was great.

Seniors performed in "Stage Door" and prepared for Commencement, Juniors sold cokes and popcorn at basketball games, Sophomores were excited over the choice of class rings, jackets, and sweaters, and Freshmen adjusted to high school life and location of their classes all displaying the Spirit of American Youth at Madison Heights this year.

Develops High Ideals and Christian Attitudes.

27 seniors rank in the top 10 per cent of their class scholastically.

Merit Acclaim and Recognition.

MHHS representatives to the 1962 IHSAP State Contest: N. Griffith, English medalist; S. Griffin; E. Murray; S. Swan. ROW 2: B. Bardsley; J. Watson, Math Medalist; B. Whipple; W. Steves; J. Dixon, Math medalist.

Winner of the Voice of Democracy speech for Madison Heights is Cinda Huntzinger.

Jan Palmer won the D.A.R. award for her prominent achievement in government.

Ardis Perkins and Joyce Ehle pick out shoes to wear in the Miss America style show. Ardis won the McCall's Award and Joyce won a trip to Washington, D. C. and New York City for her State Fair demonstration.

Students' Achievements Win Due Recognition.

American students have the freedom of choice and no where is this more evident than in the opportunities they have in choosing their career in life. As freshmen, students start planning the courses which they will follow.

The students who won awards were chosen on their scholarship, citizenship, school activities, and the amount of work they have done in different curriculums.

After long, hard hours of work and research, students are rewarded and given acclaim for outstanding work.

Through their efforts and abilities, they are given a faith in what the future may bring. This is the spirit of American Youth.

Representing M. H. H. S. at Girl's State and Boy's State last summer were B. Baughan, B. Carroll, D. Dunbar, L. Gray, L. Fritz, P. Jarrett, and L. Deck.

Rosalind Windsor's outstanding performance entitles her to the honors of Miss Christmas Carol and National Merit Scholarship.

Excellent work in foods qualified Deloris Williams for the Betty Crocker Award.

Attending the Optimist Club luncheon for their outstanding leadership and good citizenship were: B. Coyner, K. Fidler, C. Fox, B. Carroll, G. Powell, C. Huston, P. Farris. Not pictured: J. Dulin.

Mastering shorthand, balancing accounts, keeping ledgers, figuring debits and credits, and typing are all taught in the business course of M.E.H.S.

While future business men and women hammer at their typewriters, the hammers in vocational shop pound away at the latest project. The shop boys welded their tools to build a new yearbook office, to build bleachers for the football field, to paint door frames and to dig drinking ditches and baseball dugouts.

annual. Said Annie has its own room thanks to the efforts of Mr. Smith's vocational boys.

Steve Bugos attempts to sell typewriters to Dave Fleming and other members of his class by pointing out the attributes of a specific type of machine.

The typing students work diligently to accurately their words per minute while Miss Wagner times them on a test.

Mr. Bauer helps Dennis Imel and Jack Bullee as they draw a plaster.

Subjects Provide Practical Training

Shirley Brooks and Jeanne Allen get practice with the mimeograph machine while printing a history test.

Janet Blackwell tests her manual dexterity as the psychology class looks on.

Students Study the World Around Them

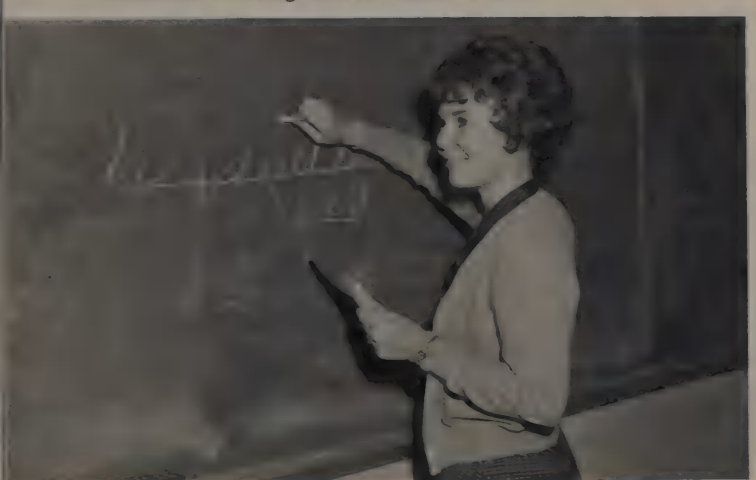
While the World History class studied the French Revolution, students in another class learned about France through its language. The French, Spanish, and Latin classes learned about the customs, traditions, and history of their respective countries as well as the conjugations of verbs.

The government classes studied voting procedures and the current world situation while the sociology students discussed the social problems and the effects of socialism on an economy. Students in economics concentrated on the art of regulating receipts and expenditures and the relation of labor to products while psychology students investigated the phenomena of consciousness and behavior.

Mr. Jennings points out the boundaries of the Northwest Ordinance to juniors, Diana Carmack, Mike Andrews, and Frank Records.

Mr. Hunt explains the principles of voting to Pam Carmack while using a model machine.

In composition class Lana Hobbs learns to diagram a sentence starting with the main clause.



A tape recorder aids Miss Jenkins in teaching the correct pronunciation of French verbs to the first year French students.

In speech class, Barry Lacy lists the reasons for his pet peeve -- the children between the ages of four and seven who live in his neighborhood.

Biology students learn to inoculate media for bacteria cultures.

Mr. Jones and a student work to identify the insects in a "bug collection" for a semester project.

Ring around the rosy in physics class? No, the circle of students have contact with electricity.

Chemistry students find that titration problems involve a lot of time and careful work.

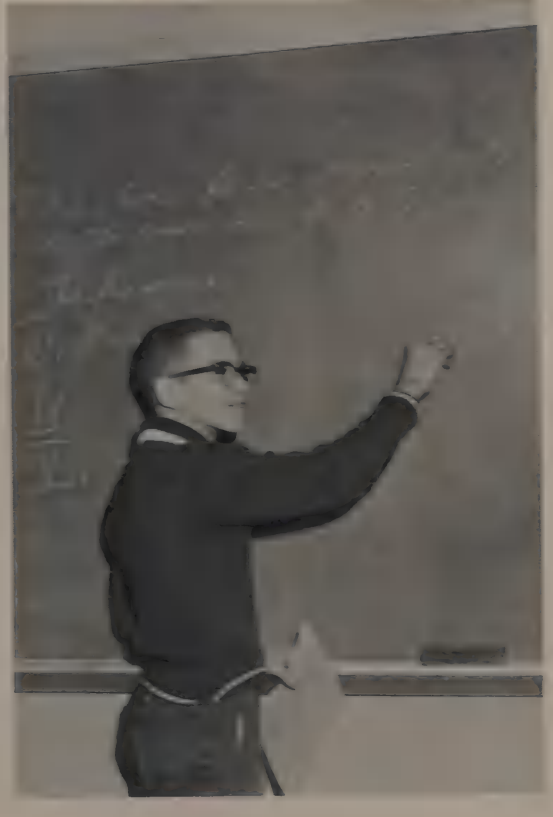
Math & Science Challenge Inquisitive Minds

Courses in chemistry, physics, biology, general mathematics, geometry, algebra, trigonometry, senior and college mathematics stretch the imaginations of future Newtons, Euclids, and Einsteins.

All living things are covered in the biology department from the amoeba, the simplest form of life, to the most complex, the human body. Chemistry classes conducted experiments and learned the meaning and use of complicated formulas. Physics students learned the laws and relationships that underline matter and energy. In physics, elements of magnetism, heat, light, sound, electricity, and nuclear physics were studied.

Mathematics students learned that there is only one answer to each problem, but several methods of computation. The purposes of the department are to prepare students for the higher mathematics classes which they will encounter in college and to provide students who will go directly into business world with a fundamental understanding of everyday mathematics.

Richard Jones finds that geometry proofs can become quite involved.



Mr. Wann explains the procedures needed in using a slide rule to Bob Rosenbaum. Fascinating, isn't it?

Physical Fitness and Driving Care Are Stresse

Madison Heights is the only school in the state where pupils may major in physical education by assisting the freshman classes. The classes teach physical fitness, sportsmanship, and the cultivation of lifelong recreation interest.

Students who help with biology classes are called bio. assistants. They also take an advance course to further their knowledge of the study of life.

Skill and timing in controlling a car, correct driving habits, and a proper driving attitude are taught in drivers' training.

Janie Wilkinson learns the basic principles of driving from Mr. Wilson.

16 Students Win State Music Honors

MUSIC AWARD WINNERS: E. Howell, M. Hollar, M. Stiner, M. Church, B. Donnelly, S. Loy, P. Davies.

Madison Heights is quite proud of its various school musical groups --- Senior Band, Concert Choir, Girl's Choir, Dance Band, Novelettes, and Highlighters. These groups perform for local civic activities and also on frequent occasions entertain the students. The music theory class provides an opportunity for many students to expand their knowledge of music and to improve their musical ability. Many of Madison Height's students won first places in the District Music Contests and went on to win high honors in state competition. The interest and talent shown by the music students indicates that Madison Heights has a very-well developed music department.

Carolyn Ginple, Susan Olsen, and Peggy Gimple learn the way to a man's heart.

In child care class Jeanne Tumulty learns how to bathe an infant without getting soap in his eyes.

Students Prepare For Future

Art students design the Pirate head to be painted on the gym floor.

Delicious odors of baking food escaped into the halls at Madison Heights as the home economic students tried their skills in cooking class. Child care, home nursing, and family living were all part of the home economics program.

While the home economics students stitched together sewing creations the art students were busy working on other creations. Young artists painted portraits, landscapes, and still life. They worked on many varied projects including murals, sculpturing, and drawing the pirate to be painted on the gym floor.

Features

The spirit of festivity is in the many special events occurring during the school year. Starting in the fall with the reign of the annual homecoming queen, many school activities provided exciting entertainment for all the students. The senior play, STAGE DOOR, and the junior play featured the theatrical talents of both classes. The second annual yearbook queen coronation highlighted the first basketball game. Prior to the sectional excitement, the traditional "Scarlet and Black Week" rose to great heights, with enthusiasm at a peak. When "Co-Ed Week" drew to a close, the girls found their billfolds quite empty, but their dates quite satisfied. Climaxing the special events, the juniors presented their prom with a southern charm all its own.

Prom Couples Visit the Courtyard of Tara

Upon entering the courtyard of Tara, a southern plantation of yester-year, seniors and juniors were awed by the magnificence of their surroundings. The impressive southern colonial mansion dominated the "Spring at Tara" theme while twilight tones of light, radiating from coach-lamps, cast their glow upon the flowering gardens and trellises in the courtyard.

The rustic mill wheel churned slowly in the current of the millstream as the Campus Crew played soft melodies to add the crowning touch. The excitement of the evening reached a crescendo as Steffani Spilman ascended to the top of the gently arching mansion steps where Dennis Pressler, president of the junior class, crowned her queen of the 1963 Junior-Senior Prom.

Anita beams after she receives her crown and the traditional football bouquet and begins her reign as Homecoming Queen while the freshman and sophomore candidates look on.

Floats Add to Homecoming Festivities

Rain didn't dampen the spirits of the Madison Heights students at sixth annual Homecoming festivities. The long hours of preparation and planning paid off as the largest and most colorful float parade in the history of the school was presented before the game with Marion.

The Senior Class took first place honors when its enormous guillotine beheaded a Marion Giant. Its slogan was "Make It Short, Sharp, and Decisive!" The second place float built by homeroom 80 had as its motto "Burn 'Em Out Pirates!" Third place was taken by Caduceus with a funeral procession and declaration, "We're Buryin' Marion!"

In an atmosphere of excitement and anxiety the band preformed in honor of the queen and her court as the candidates assembled on the football field at half time. The crowd became tense as the long awaited announcement was made: "The 1962 Homecoming Queen is . . .from the Junior Class, Miss Anita Miller."

After an unsuccessful battle with the Giants on the gridiron, the students, teachers, and alumni enjoyed the Student Council Homecoming Dance where the queen and her court were honored.

Stepping into the spotlight as Homecoming Queen and court are Eser Baysal escorted by Larry Roberts, Sharon Swan escorted by Phil Faris, Queen Anita Miller escorted by Dennis Pressler, Margie Stam escorted by Pat Kelley, and Susie McMahan escorted by Bill Baughn.

The second place float, "Burn 'Em Out Pirates" was the work of the vocational shop class.

Anita Miller, the junior candidate, was overwhelmed when she was named Homecoming Queen.

Couples Enjoy Senior Christmas Dance.

The main lobby of Madison Heights was transformed into a winter wonderland --- the setting of the Senior Christmas Dance, held on December 22, 1962. From the moment that the seniors and their dates entered the lobby through a lighted archway and viewed the festive Christmas decorations, they knew that the dance was truly an occasion to be remembered. The walls were decorated with murals depicting snow scenes and the traditional Christmas scene. In the center of the floor stood a white Christmas tree decorated with red lights and bulbs. Tables lined both sides of the hall, and on each table was centered a gaily decorated, small, white net Christmas tree. Several of the juniors served at the refreshment table, which was at the end of the hall.

The highlight of the evening occurred when the band, the Corvairs from Ball State, began to play "Here Comes Santa Claus." And sure enough! Santa Claus came running in with candy canes for everyone!

This year after the annual sales were completed, fourteen lovely girls were nominated for the 1962-63 yearbook queen by those homerooms having one hundred percent subscriptions to the annual. Any student who had ordered a 1963 TREASURE CHEST was eligible to vote for the queen.

At the sochop, held after the first basketball game on Wednesday, November 21, the names of the queen and her court were announced.

Miss Linda Gray, senior, was crowned the 1962-63 Yearbook Queen. She was attended by Cinda Huntzinger, first runner-up, Nancy Case, second runner-up, and Jane Whitehead, third runner-up. Linda was crowned by Jim Holsapple, captain of the basketball team, and was presented a bouquet of roses by Roger Miller. Jama Doenges, editor of the TREASURE CHEST, gave Linda a charm bracelet to remind her always of her reign as Yearbook Queen.

Dr. Randal and Terry have a father-daughter talk.

A perfect ending to a wonderful play!

As juniors, the class of '63 presented THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, a sparkling, witty comedy. The plot centers around Sheridan Whiteside, who, during a stay in the Stanley household, does his best to upset the lives of the members of that family, with his unusual guests, animals, and advice.

As seniors, the class presented STAGE DOOR. In the Footlights Club, a home for young actresses, some of the girls grow discouraged, some go home, one marries, one goes to Hollywood, and one commits suicide, but Terry Randall sticks with her ambition to become a great stage actress. David Kingsley falls in love with Terry and uses his influence to get her that big part--all she needs to make her a famous actress.

Mr. Jennings directed STAGE DOOR and THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, assisted by Ginger Campbell, Dick Minneman, and Debby Dunbar.

Susie McMahan and Charlie Huston were crowned Miss Scarlet and Mr. Black at Tuesday's before-school pep session.

Free Tickets were given to all students so that they could attend the performances at the "Pirate Playhouse." Using puppets the Thespians put on skits during the noon hours and before school.

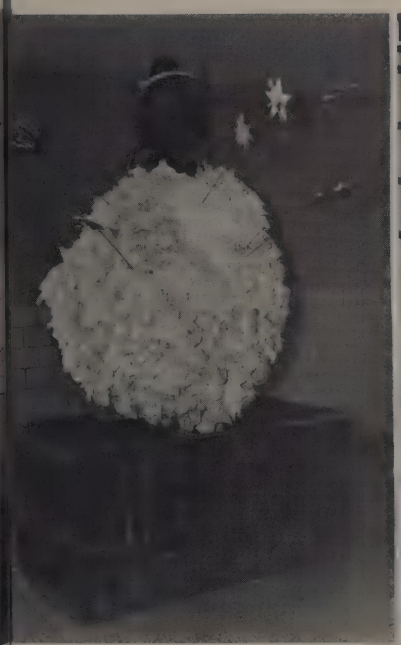
Hope of Sectional Victory Sparks School Spirit.

The candidates for Miss Scarlet and Mr. Black were freshmen, Nita Taylor and Tom Matthews; sophomores, Jan Henning and Charlie Huston; juniors Betty Lightfoot and Ron Tucker (not pictured) and seniors, Steve Ruh and Susie McMahan.

Following the regular season games, Indiana plunges into "Hoosier Hysteria" -- sectional time. School spirit rose to a feverish pitch during Scarlet and Black Week as the Senior Class won first place in the annual display contest and Homeroom 80's unique idea won the walking float contest. Exhuberant cheerleaders whipped school spirit to a new high at Wednesday's pep session whose tempo was set by the standing ovation given Coach Wilson.

The Pirate's 58-52 loss to Alexandria, in first round action, brought to a close this year's Scarlet and Black Week.

Highlighted by "Yosemite Sam" atop a revolving globe, the first prize senior float displayed school spirit at its peak.



Using small houses to represent opponents and a giant-size pirate, the juniors carried out the theme, "We Want a Gigantic Victory."

Carrying out a medical theme, Caduceus suggested the perfect remedy for Madison's sectional opponents.

Although Steve Holloway and Steve Stahl rather enjoy the Co-Ed Week turn-about, Jama Doenges and Patty Fine are not sure that it was such a good idea to take the boys to Strike-Mor. The bowling wouldn't be so bad if the boys would only tie their own shoes and get their own balls.

At End of Co-Ed Week, Girls Have Empty Billfolds,

Co-Ed Week, sponsored annually by the Student Council, is one week of the year in which all social customs are r e v e r s e d. During these days no "Jack" may refuse a "Jill" for a date unless he is going steady.

The fellows have extended to them all the courtesies and privileges usually reserved for the "fairer sex" for the duration of "The-W o m a n - I s - Requested-T o - Pay" week. "Jack" must wear perfume to make him irresistible, have his nails manicured, wear a corsage to the Co-Ed Rock, and watch what he eats so that he can maintain his "delicate feminine figure." "Jill" must call "Jack" every night, find the courage to ask him for the date, call for him at his home, assist him with his coat, open doors, pay the bills, and do all the many other extras expected of the man on a date.

Few resent the coming of Co-Ed Week; many wait all year for the event. Most of the student body agrees that it is a fine tradition. Many a "Jill" has captured her "Jack" through the Co-Ed Week procedures.

Mr. and Mrs. England, who want to be sure that Susan Kemmer will have Glen home on time, point out that the alarm clock will be set and it better NOT go off.

Girls are reduced to mere slaves! Marty Alley holds a stack of books while Paul Jarrett puts them into his locker--one at a time. Sue Swan not only has to carry all of Pat Kelley's books, but also is ordered to pick up the one book that accidentally fell to the floor.

Tom Apgar really gets service with a smile! Vicki Hamilton puts his coat on him, and then she will have to carry that large stack of books to Tom's bus. Lots of luck!

But Satisfied Dates.

At Frisch's Kathy Ortwein and Mandy Wellborn pay the bill for the boys' six-course dinners while Lucky Deck and John Martin dispute over that last piece of pie.

Although they did not put up a display in the main hall, the cafeteria staff did its part to build school spirit during Scarlet and Black Week. The cooks not only served "Sectional Specials" -- Basketball potatoes, Winning Team turkey, and Time Out hamburgers-but also donned Madison Pirate hats to complete their Sectional backing of the team.

Around Madison Heights . . .

Rear Admiral Alexander Heyward spoke to the student body during National Freedom Week. After his speech, the Admiral presented to the school a United States flag that had been flown over the Capitol.

Although this doesn't happen very often, the janitors get a few minutes of rest while Rick Heritage takes over the mop.

Throughout the school year students drifted from fad to fad with knee socks and mohair sweaters at the top of the list. As time saw the changing of fads, various activities were carried on throughout Madison Heights. Convocations presented many interesting guest speakers and entertaining programs. The student body assembled as a whole in the gymnasium for spirited pep sessions during football and basketball seasons.

The school exploded with school spirit during Scarlet and Black Week as school work was forgotten and sectional games became all important.

All in all, activities reigned high around Madison Heights during the school year.

The Ball State Wind Ensemble performs at a student convocation.

Four perky juniors, Pam Perkins, Linda Harris, Betty Lightfoot, and Barb Lackey, are wearing clothes which were popular during the school year.

Madison Heights Band performed at home basketball games.

Organizations

A spirit of leadership and cooperation is shown in the many organizations at Madison Heights. In order to develop individual talents and accomplish various ends, varieties of clubs have been formed during the past seven years. There are clubs organized for service and for fun, those affiliated with national and international organizations, and those competing within themselves. Each of Madison's clubs has a definite purpose--to acquaint students with possible professions, to honor the students' scholastic achievements, to record the news and activities at school, or to plan the general activities of the student body. The character and personality of each individual student is best portrayed through the activities in which he participates.

Mr. Jennings

Dear Student Body,

I am honored to have been chosen president of your Student Council. I hope I have been able to fulfill the many responsibilities associated with this office.

I have attended the State Student Council Convention and the Governor's Youth Conference. I have had the pleasure of working with many of your fellow classmates in an effort to make our school what you want it to be. I shall always remember these experiences.

Madison Heights is a comparatively new school and, like a newly born child, we must try different ideas, different activities, and different policies. I am sure that with continued cooperation and progress, Madison Heights will soon become one of the finest high schools in Indiana.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity of being your president.

Sincerely,

Dick Minneman

Student Council

Student Council sponsored its traditional Open House again this year. It gave parents and teachers a chance to meet and discuss their students' grades.

The many activities of the 1962-63 Student Council were under the direction of its ambitious and capable president, Dick Minneman. Dick was ably assisted by the Council's officers: Linda Gray, vice-president; Janet Hetzler, treasurer; and Janet Robinson, secretary. Mr. Jennings sponsored and advised for the second year.

Activities this year included planning Homecoming, the Christmas convocation, Scarlet and Black Week, and Co-ed Week; decorating the school for the Christmas holidays; and directing the home room competition at Christmas and during Scarlet and Black Week. The Council also had a pirate's head painted on the gym floor. With the cooperation of Mr. Smith and his building trade class, the front lawn of the school is now decorated with a new, permanent name-monument.

The Student Council participated in the State Student Council Convention, held at Indiana University, and in the regional conference.

Student Council meetings were held the first and third Thursday of every month, and Executive Council meetings were held the second and fourth Thursday of the month.

Band to Second Place Finish at State Fair.

Steffani Spilman, head majorette and choreographer, performed twirling routines during the flag presentation at basketball games.

Mr. Barker and Gerry Fuller, drum major, receive second place trophy for the band's excellent performance at the State Fair.

This Is Madison's Band . . .

Continuing a tradition of excellent performance, this year's band, under the direction of Mr. Francis E. Barker, won second place in the State Fair Band Day Marching Contest.

The band was featured at Ball State's Band Day, took part in three local parades and in the marching demonstration for the Indiana Band Master's Association, and performed at halftime shows during football and basketball season. After being chosen the only high school band to march in Ball State's homecoming parade, the band won its fifteenth trophy by winning the first-place, Class-A trophy at the State Concert Band Contest.

While on tour of various high schools in three counties, the band played for several assembly programs. Determination and hours of practice on the part of every band member made the 1963 Spring Music Festival even more fabulous than ever.

Choir Lends Musical Addition to Convocations.

The Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Baker, sang several songs at the Christmas convocation.

The Senior High Concert Choir at Madison Heights consists of sixty-six selected voices. Each student must audition individually. The choir's purpose is to improve our taste and likes in the music field.

The choir took part in various activities, such as the Indiana State Choral Festival; the County Festival; and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter convocations. The group was featured in the 1963 Spring Music Festival.

Mr. Brown has joined the Music Department as Choir director since the death of Mr. Taylor. Under the direction of Mr. Brown, the choir sang at baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

"The World will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what "He" did here---"

On November 18, 1962, Madison Heights students and faculty were shocked and saddened by the untimely death of Mr. Harold Taylor, vocal music instructor and director of the junior high band.

Mr. Harold Victor Taylor, husband, father, friend, musician, and teacher, has played his part upon the stage---his lines over, he has exited. Mr. Taylor was born in Muncie, graduated from Muncie Central High School, and served in World War II with the tank corps in the African campaign. He held a Bachelor's Degree and a Master's Degree from Ball State. Before coming to Madison Heights, he had taught music in Saratoga, Gaston, and Carthage.

When one has brought an appreciation of disciplined perfection and harmony and a love for the beautiful into the world, he has left a magical imprint on the lives of those with whom he has come in contact. Who can say what changes have taken place in the lives of those who were touched by him?

Let it, then be enough to say, "Those who were privileged to know him will not soon forget." Our appreciation of him will not dim as the days, weeks, and years pass. How much more can we, the living, ask of our fellow man?

Band Assistants, Student Teachers Help Mr. Barker.

Anyone entering the band room second semester might have wondered if he had the right room, because there were several new instructors for the choir and band. Mr. Andy Brown joined the Madison Heights' teaching staff second semester as choir director and assistant band director. Mr. Rick Buehler and Mr. Joe Scagnoli, student teachers from Ball State, observed and helped in the teaching of Mr. Barker's classes.

This year several members of the Senior Band also helped Mr. Barker in the band room. These assistants passed out the music, filed music used in the past, set up the risers and chairs on the stage when the band performed in the gym, recorded music for the majorettes, and were responsible for the lighting at the basketball half-time shows.

MHHS Granted Quill and Scroll Charter.

Mrs. Jones and Mr. Mitchell, sponsors, admire the Quill and Scroll Charter.

On September 13, 1962, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, known as Quill and Scroll, granted membership to seventeen Madison Heights seniors. These charter members of the first MHHS Quill and Scroll Chapter had to meet stringent scholastic and journalistic requirements in order to become a part of this group.

The aim and purpose of the society has always been to encourage and reward individual achievement in journalism and its allied fields. The group has tried to raise standards in the area called high school publications. It hopes to instill in students the ideal of scholarship, to develop better journalists by inculcating in them a higher code of ethics, and to promote exact, dispassionate thinking and clear forceful writing.

Honor Society Promotes Character & Scholarship.

November 9, 1962, was an important night for several Madison Heights students who were initiated into the Madison Heights High School Honor Society. This highly impressive ceremony is the main yearly event of Honor Society and an event long remembered by its members.

Honor Society, along with the Senior Class and Student Council, has started the worth-while project of awarding a scholarship to some deserving senior student who is bound for college.

The gold tassels worn at commencement this May served as identification for those seniors who attained a high scholastic average throughout high school. This new idea at Madison Heights will be continued for many years to come.

Last year's Honor Society project was completed a few months ago when signal lights and gates were erected at the railroad crossing near 38th Street and State Road 9.

Honor Society officers, Joyce Ehle, treasurer; Jan Palmer, secretary; Paul Jarrett, vice-preisdent; and Bob Carroll, president, discuss plans for the scholarship project with Mr. Uplinger, the sponsor.

Jim Watson and Bill Wipple receive their pledge ribbons and membership cards at the Honor Society formal initiation.

Members of Honor Society eat their lunches during the noon meetings.

Diligent Work is Ever

Jama Doenges, busy at her typewriter, performs one of the many tasks of an editor.

Kathy Ortwein, assistant editor, discovers that an editor's work is never done.

Mr. Mitchell, sponsor, reviews some layouts before a deadline.

The excitement that comes with a brand new yearbook is evidence of the fact that we treasure it highly, yet few students are aware of the planning and hard work that goes into the preparation of a yearbook.

The months of preparation begin with the building of an idea--a theme to be carried throughout the book.

Editor Jama Doenges developed this theme while attending the yearbook workshop at Indiana University last summer along with copy editor, Ann Forbes.

Then comes the work of laying out the ideas of the theme--"Spirit of American Youth." Fitting the pieces together includes the taking of hundreds of pictures, the writing of copy, and the designing of layouts. Coverage of year's social, academic, and athletic events is also part of the maze.

Each staff member works diligently to complete his pieces of the intricacy, our annual, but they will carry with them forever the benefits of a truly rewarding and challenging experience.

Mr. Russ Forkner gives Tom Goodman, photographer, several tips about the camera.

The JOLLY ROGER has been under the able guidance of Mrs. Ruby Jones ever since the first of its sixty-seven issues was printed on September 22, 1959.

Printing bi-weekly news of events and activities at Madison Heights is the main objective of the JOLLY ROGER. The thirty-five members of the 1962-63 staff have attempted to create enthusiasm for school activities and sports and to reflect this spirit to the student body, faculty, and community through the media of the printed page.

Seven members of the staff received instruction in newspaper work at the Indiana High School Press Association's annual convention at Franklin College during Teachers' Institute.

As a result of this added experience and the five-year experience of some of the senior staff members, the fourth volume of the JOLLY ROGER was improved in content and organization and displayed a new nameplate and student features.

Eser Baysal Brings

My dear friends,

While I am writing this letter to you I am so excited. I want to express all my feelings, my happiness that you gave me, but I am afraid no words can express them. I think nothing is enough to thank you for such a wonderful year. This year has been the best year of my life. At the beginning it was difficult, of course. I didn't understand the people; they didn't understand me. Everything was different for me: the people, the language, home, school, your lives. Here, at first, some things seemed to happen by magic: automatic machines, so many cars and so many ready made things. Maybe these words make you think that Turkey is an Eastern country with strange customs and people dressing in robes and veils. If so, you are behind times. Of course there are many differences between the United States and Turkey, but these differences are not much greater that those between the United States and any other European country.

I had known that life is not the same in America, but I still was surprised. I had my first surprise birthday party and celebrated my first Christmas. I tried to be like a baby starting a new life, who needs to understand everything. It was a wonderful experience which will be very valuable as I work for the progress of my country.

I am grateful for the opportunity of studying in the United States, and again I would like to thank with all my heart AFS and the people who made it possible. I want to extend my appreciation to my family, the Coyners, who opened their home to me, my school, my teachers, and you, my friends, who made me one of you and helped me. I'll be very glad if my living in America can make for more friendly relations between our countries, America and Turkey.

Love,

Eser Baysal

As An A.F.S. Student, Mandy Lived In Italy.

Mandy visited the Leaning Tower of Pisa with Luciano, an Italian friend.

On June 14, 1962, Mandy Wellborn set sail on the M.S. Seven Seas from Montreal, Canada, for Rotterdam, Holland. Mandy, along with eight hundred other AFS students from the United States, was bound for a new destination and a new family. Mandy's new home was in Reggio Emilia, Italy, and her new family was the Leopoldo Crescenzi family.

While abroad she visited many interesting cities -- Florence, Venice, and Pisa. She visited the Leaning Tower of Pisa and was surprised to find that the tower really does lean.

Mandy and her Italian family spent a month at Cescenatico on the Adriatic Sea. At the end of her two month stay, she and the other American students toured Italy. Before she left Rotterdam on her voyage home, Mandy saw last year's foreign exchange student, Jeanne Korteweg, who was working in a travel bureau.

Now that Mandy's trip is over only wonderful memories remain and she hopes someday to be able to return to Italy to see her Italian friends and family.

Giuliana, Mandy, Mr. and Mrs. Crescenzi, and Manuela spent a month in Cesenatico.

AFS Committee Sponsors Exchange Students.

The Madison Heights Field Service Committee had accomplished many things since its origination three years ago. Each spring a campaign is held to raise money to bring a foreign exchange student to Madison Heights. This has been done by sponsoring a soc hop in cooperation with Anderson and Highland High Schools and by selling stocks to the students and to the community.

Arrangements were made for a group of foreign students touring the country to visit Anderson and stay in homes over night; a convocation was held featuring Madison's foreign exchange student from Turkey, Eser Baysal, and Mandy Wellborn, Madison's exchange student to Italy. A constitution for the new organization was written.

The officers this year were Jan Palmer, president; Ann Forbes, vice-president; Barb Lackey, secretary, and Linda Gray, treasurer. The official house is composed of the officers, sponsor, committee chairmen, class vice-presidents, and at least one member from each class.

The Bus Committee makes arrangements for the foreign students' trip through the Mid-West.

The officers of FTA are: D. Dunbar, J. Hart, B. Lackey, G. Hensley, and L. Hobbs.

This year, the Future Teachers Club, which was organized in 1956, and was sponsored by Mr. Collier and Mrs. Hamilton, received its charter, affiliating it with the state and local chapters.

By observing and teaching classes in the junior high, senior high, and Roosevelt Grade School, students interested in the teaching profession may obtain first-hand experience. This helps them to decide the phase of teaching and the grade level they would like to enter.

Other activities included films on the teaching profession, speakers, initiation, and a party at the end of the year.

Business meetings, held on the first and third Mondays of each month, were conducted by Janet Hart, president. She was assisted by Lana Hobbs, vice-president; Linda Fritz, secretary; Gloria Hensley, treasurer; Barbara Lackey, Historian; and Debby Dunbar, parliamentarian.

The Caduceus Club of Madison Heights is devoted to encouraging a deeper interest in medicine. At a candle-lighting service and banquet, Caduceus formally initiated eighty new members.

Caduceus is not only one of the largest clubs of Madison Heights but also one of the best organized. The club enjoyed a variety of programs ranging from talks by ambulance drivers and student nurses to veterinarians and doctors of medicine. The field trips to the Logansport State Mental Hospital, the I.U. Medical Center, and Chicago advanced the worthwhile goals of Caduceus.

Through the combined efforts of Thespians and speech class came the Madison Heights Forensic League. With Mrs. Furnace as their sponsor, several students have participated in speech meets all over the state. The group's busy schedule started with a trip to Ben Davis and included meets at New Castle, Ball State, and Lafayette Jefferson. There are also state and national tournaments.

Each participant works hard preparing his own entry in one of the nine divisions. By work on the part of both the sponsors and students, Madison Heights' speech program has been well represented.

Speech and Acting Abilities.

Thespians put on a skit for children in the hospital at Christmas.

Under the able guidance of Mrs. Furnace, sponsor, and Miss Jenkins, cosponsor, members of Thespians gave skits, plays, readings, and dances. These performances helped to give the members experience for public appearances which they might make. The members frequently provided entertainment for various organizations. Two such programs were given at Christmas and a benefit play was given in the children's ward at St. John's Hospital.

The Thespians also gave an excellent performance sponsoring the all-school talent convocation and presenting their annual three-act play.

Other activities included a preview of the Anderson High School Thespians' play, attending the party afterwards, and sponsoring the soc hop on December 21.

Each meeting had a short demonstration of chess techniques. On occasions the group met with Chess Clubs from other schools.

Gymnastics Open First Official Season.

Jay Connell goes into a front drop, one of the many stunts that each member of the squad must master.

The Gymnastics Club, which was organized only one year ago at Madison Heights, has proved this year that it is rapidly becoming a popular sport. The club aroused a great interest in the underclassmen as can be readily told by the make-up of the team. The team is largely composed of freshmen and sophomores. The captain of the team is Frank Bandy. Coach Lechlitner led his boys to new heights in gymnastics.

Practicing diligently four nights a week after school, the squad participated in 8 meets. Considering the great progress of the team, one can expect great things from them in the future.

Members of the Service Club serve as assistants in the health office and in the counseling office. The club was organized in 1956.

Each year the members try to have at least one project to help a worthy organization. Usually they provide the organization with useful gifts. When these gifts are delivered, members tour the building and learn something about its purpose.

The Service Club held its meetings during the lunch hour. At this time members planned teachers' teas and other projects.

Sharon Harless was this year's president, and the secretary-treasurer was Marilyn Gregory.

The officers of Secretaries Club are: Karen Council, secretary; Carol McShirley, Vice-President; Claudia Richardson, President; and Marilyn Cregory, Treasurer.

In order to help the members acquire a better understanding of the business world, Secretaries Club was organized for the girls on a business course.

At the meetings, which are held twice a month, the members enjoy and learn from speakers from local business; other professional people also present interesting programs. The organization, sponsored by Mrs. Creed, took a trip to the Business Department at Ball State. The officers of M-Club are: Charles Huston, Serg't. at Arms; Gene Cook, Secretary; Bill Baughn, Treasurer; Steve Stahl, Vice-President; and Larry Abshire, President.

With the addition of many underclassmen members to the large number of veteran seniors, the 1962-63 M-Club boasts the largest membership in its history.

Under the able guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Bradford, and their president, Larry Abshire, the lettermen have helped to maintain the high level of sportsmanship and competitive spirit always present in the athletic teams fielded by our school.

The club entered a car in the homecoming parade, made a display for Red and Black Week, and held a party and an initiation ceremony at the end of the year.

Freshman Cheerleaders: J. Gaylor, J. Reasoner, N. Skinner.

This year was the first time that the cheerleaders had two members from each class on the squad. They began practice the last week in July of 1962 for the football season. When school started, they practiced twice a week to make Madison Heights proud of them. Last autumn they attended the cheerleader's convention at Indiana University.

Marilyn Gregory, the only returning cheerleader, was elected captain. Mrs. Grantham sponsored the cheerleaders for the sixth year.

Dick Laird, a junior, was the 1962-63 Pirate mascot. He was a good luck symbol to the team for all of the team sports.

Pep Club Boosts Athletic Spirit of Teams.

Purpose of Pep Club at Madison Heights is to boost school spirit. Members of the club sit together at football and basketball games and form a lively nucleus for the cheering section.

This year Pep Club at Madison Heights consisted of 106 vivacious girls from all four classes. The organization lead the crowds that attended the games in backing the "Mighty Pirates."

The club sponsored a soc-hop after one of the basketball games to finish paying for the trampoline for the physical education department. During Scarlet and Black Week the girls sold hats to all of the Pirate fans, which added color to sectional week.

Mrs. Grantham, Dean of Girls, sponsored the group; she and the cheerleaders were responsible for the greatest enthusiasm and school spirit that Madison Heights has ever seen.

Sports Fans Are Aided by MHHS Ushers.

Mrs. Grantham and the Pep Club officers, Sue Swan, Secretary--treasurer; Connie Kean, president; and Barb McMahan, vice-president, discuss the possibilities of selling candy as a money-making project.

No doubt the visitors at our basketball and football games are impressed by the courteous and responsible ushers.

By handing out programs, sweeping the gym floor at the half-time, and helping to keep the excited fans off the basketball floor during the game, the ushers, wearing the traditional red shirts, are very helpful. Although the organization is small, the group performs necessary services for the entire school by directing people to their proper seats, by assisting at the soc hops, and by helping to keep order at the various school functions. Sponsored by Mr. Foley, the group was first organized in 1956.

Sports

The spirit of sports is in a touchdown, a jump-shot, or a smashing home run which brings a crowd to its feet with wild excitement. Pride swells in the mother or father whose son has just scored. The real thrill, however, is in the player himself. The feat performed is a reward for hours of hard practice; it brings about a feeling of accomplishment. It is a dream come true, a dream from childhood, perhaps, of scoring the deciding points in a victory. From this pride and excitement is built a fortress against the unknown, the future. The athlete's moral attitude is formed through I want to, I can, I will.

Coaches Instill Sportsmanship and Fair Play.

What, exactly, is a coach? Is he just a man who tries to put together winning teams or tournament champions? Or is he a man who tries to instill a sense of sportsmanship and fair play in each member of his team?

Although every coach would like to have a winning team every year, producing a winning team is not his sole purpose. As well as building strong bodies, a coach is trying to build good character. He reminds his boys that winning isn't everything, but trying to win is.

Sportsmanship, respect for rules, and sincere effort rate high on every coach's goal list. A coach's job is half done when his boys learn that a defeat accepted with sportsmanship means more to a school and a team than a victory won without sportsmanship.

An old sports slogan sums up the idea each coach wants to leave with his boys--"It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." A coach, often an unheralded individual, deserves more praise than he normally receives.

Pirates Show Noted

The 1962 Madison Heights football season showed the steady improvement of a young ball club. The team, coached by Mr. Baker, and massed largely of underclassmen, won two and tied two while losing five of their games. Injuries and a case of bad luck plagued the team throughout the season.

The opening game against Ben Davis proved the Pirates to be clearly the superior, as they marched to a 13-0 victory. In the second game Anderson, due to the great running of its backs, scampered to a 33-6 win over the Pirates. The New Castle game showed the Pirates to be "too late with too little" as the team staged a fourth-quarter rally only to fall short 19-12.

In the earlier stages of the Pirate 19-18 victory over cross-town rival Highland, the Pirates appeared to be on the road to a runaway, but the Laddies came back in the second half to make the game a thriller.

The 0-0 tie at Elwood—a game that was fought between the fourty-yard lines–left the crowd stunned, as a last-second field goal attempt by the Pirates hit the cross-bar of the goal and bounced back. A severe case of "fun-ble-itis" hit the Pirates during the 33-13 loss to the Marion Giants. Every time the Pirates mustered a drive near the goal line, they fumbled.

The Howe game ended in a 13-13 tie as, for the second year in a row, the Pirates were again knocking on the goal-line when time ran out.

In the final two games of the season against Fort Wayne South Side and Alexandria, the Pirates went down in defeat 34-7 and 13-0 respectively.

Coach Wilson Brings

In Coach Jack Wilson's first year as head basketball mentor, he produced a young hustling ballclub. The Pirates repeatedly found themselves playing against much taller ballclubs. Coach Wilson introduced the full-court press to offset this factor and even though victory didn't come often, the Bucs made close games of many contests. The constant training and hustle shown by the Pirates throughout the season finally paid off as the team won four of their last five ball-games. The team--in these last five games--showed the necessary spirit, determination, and hustle needed to produce a sectional winning team.

The Pirates' first two victories over Markleville and Shelbyville provided Coach Wilson with a fine house warming present. Though they lost to Noblesville and Marion --both undefeated--they bounced back to nip Highland.

In the next ten games, the Bucs couldn't quite muster a winning combination. Though tney led in some games almost all of the way, breaks seemed to turn the other way toward the end of the game.

The fast finish which the Pirates staged late in the season provided the school body with plenty of spirit to carry them into the sectional. With the Pirates losing only one regular through graduation, hopes of a winning season seem evident next year.

The 1961-62 Pirate baseball squad displayed fine team balance as it established one of the best records in the history of the school. With the wind and cold weather hampering play in the early part of the season, the Pirates lost two of the first three games of the season. Then, when Coach Bradford found the right starting combination, the team sparked for ten straight wins.

The Pirates demonstrated their balance and desire to win in the final ten games of the season with many come-from-behind victories. They won five of the last ten games in extra innings after trailing in the early stages of the games.

The Pirates scored victories over North Conference teams: New Castle, Marion and Anderson, the Conference champions.

Mr. D. L. Nicholson took over the coaching of the wrestling team this year and did an excellent job. He built a winning team out of a nucleus of seniors with fine contributions from the underclassmen, who gained more experience as the season progressed.

Mike Taylor led the team in pins with Pat Starrett contributing the most points to the team. Dennis Hodge had the highest number of wins -- eleven of thirteen. All three of these boys were seniors.

This years four senior lettermen (Mike Brow, Paul Mills, Lucky Deck, and Tom King) get in some practice on the 18th green.

With four returning lettermen and 16 years of varsity and reserve experience among them, coach John Horevay expects another excellent year. Backed up by the ever-deadly reserve team, Pirate hopes for that second state championship appear quite bright.

The 1962 Track and Field squad enjoyed a fine season. The fleet-footed Pirates won 4 meets and lost 3 during regular season competition and made excellent showings at invitational relays. Outstanding performances were turned in by Bill Baughn, sectional champion in the 440 yd. run, and Pete Podaski, sectional runner-up in both the 100 and 220 yd. dashes. Besides varsity breaking six school records, the freshman squad produced the state's best freshman 88-yd. relay quartet and the two top freshman shot putters in the state.

Marion tripped the over-confident Pirates, 30-25. They finished sixth in the Southport Invitational, then rebounded to give merciless beatings to Frankton, 16-62, and Muncie Burris, 16-45.

Anderson shelacked the Pirates, 20-39. At the Shortridge Invitational they placed sixth, with Don Weathers placing an individual fifth in the Large School Race. A Much-improved Muncie South Side team defeated the Pirates, 27-28. Don Weathers, placing second in the sectional and fifth in the regional, represented the team in the state, placing thirteenth in the State Meet.

People

The spirit of association is continuously varying throughout the lifetime of an individual. The everchanging pattern of life never ceases to produce new acquaintances. The kids in the neighborhood, the guys on the team, the girls in the club, the dedicated teachers and leaders, and that special someone make up each person's acquaintances and true friends during the golden years of high school. It is this fellowship and these ideals which accompany the student the rest of his life. These people are also the ones who have introduced him to the true meaning of friendship, and have given him a better understanding of the people who constitute the world.

Administration Leads

Mr. Robert Collier - Principal.

Planning, organization, and ability are the keys to a superior administration. The students of Madison Heights are very fortunate in having an administration which is highly skilled in these three key areas. Many aspects of the school program -- curriculum and schedule planning, transportation, lunch programs, vacations and holidays, financial problems, school repairs, and personnel -- receive expert attention from our administrative staff. Without detailed planning and organization innumerable things would be left undone. Despite expert planning, nothing could be accomplished without the leadership of our proficient staff of administrators.

The opportunities for Madison Heights students to receive a complete program in academics, social-life, and personal growth are a result of the hard work of the Madison Heights administration.

ADVISORY BOARD: Mr. Everett Newman, Mr. Thomas Kelly, and Mr. Leland Boren.

They guide students toward their achievements. They demonstrate thoughtfulness, generosity, and good fellowship. They are willing to aid in any difficulty. They are indespensible in time of need. These are the attributes of the Madison Heights teaching staff.

As the school year opened, there was a restraint between the faculty and the students. As the year progressed the teachers gained the students' respect and admiration. The faculty influenced the students' personalities, helped to develop their ideals, and guided them in their thinking.

The interest and wisdom displayed by an alert and informed faculty had an important bearing on each student's success, achievement, and progress.

"Soiree Parisienne," THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, and STAGE DOOR all present vivid impressions of the graduating class of 1963. The class of '63 achieved great success during its four years at Madison Heights High School. As freshmen they took the traditional ribbing from upper classmen and plunged head first into biology and first year algebra. During the sophomore year each student had the privilege of helping to choose the class colors, rings, and ensignia, Yosemite Sam.

Many challenges arose during the Junior year, the first of which was successfully met when homecoming float rocket blasted off for outer space and took second place. Selling concessions brought the first opportunity to raise money. Throughout the basketball season the class worked very diligently and proceeded to raise more money than any previous class. When the curtain closed on THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, again the class of '63 had a great success. The play left the audience in stitches and the class with a ticket sales record. To climax the junior year the class stunned everyone with their fabulous prom, "Soiree Parisienne." The prom which was considered by many to be "a utopia in the realm of dances," made a fitting climax to a successful junior year.

Concessions again opened the door on the class' last year. The highlights of the senior year included senior cords, senior week, the class motto, the class flower, and the annual senior Christmas dance.

The first place float trophy went to the seniors and the class of '63 as the massive guillotine, pulled by twenty-five terrifying hoodsmen, beheaded a Marion Giant and captured the attention of everyone present at the '62 homecoming.

When the seniors presented their class play, they proved once more their knack for acting and made STAGE DOOR a play not soon to be forgotten.

As the seniors, attired in scarlet robes, paraded to the last strains of "Pomp and Circumstances," the class of '63 bade its fond farewell to the hallowed halls of Madison Heights.

This World A Better Place In Which To Live.

The senior float with the slogan, "Make It Short, Sharp, and Decisive," won the first place trophy at Homecoming.

Juniors

The Prom, class play, concessions, class jackets and sweaters, along with academic achievements, all helped make 1962-63 a memorable year for the Junior Class.

The opening of the basketball season brought with it the opening of concessions and the first chance for the class to show its unity. Concessions started the slow, but ever-increasing, flow of money into the class treasury. This money provided for such expenditures as the prom and class play.

The outstanding academic achievements were featured by the initiation of thirty-three juniors into Honor Society--the largest number in the school's history. Superior qualities of leadership and scholastic ability were shown by the seven members of the class chosen for Boy's and Girl's State, and by the four students applying for time abroad under the American Field Service plan.

Achievements in the field of acting were displayed when the class, after weeks of memorizing lines, donned grease paint and costumes to present their class play.

The highlight of every junior year, the prom, was once more a success. The Southern plantation with its flower gardens and mansion house lend a gay colonial atmosphere to the dance and the end of another junior year.

Mr. Sokol, junior class sponsor, counts money earned from concessions at one of the basketball games.

Sophomores

Mr. Uplinger, sponsor, advised the officers and executive council.

Sophomores wait in line to order their class rings.

Class Of 1965

During a year of many world crises, the Sophomore Class at Madison Heights experienced nine months of events that will provide only a small, but unforgettable part of their teen-age lives.

The students were organized as a class when they elected their officers and representatives to the executive council.

The sophomores were understandably proud as they watched members of their own class do outstanding work and become stars in athletics. They were well-represented on all of the varsity and reserve teams and helped the teams build impressive records.

The class is also noted for its scholastic ability. A school record was set when nearly twenty percent of all the sophomores made honor roll grades or better.

As a symbol of upperclassmen, they chose the class rings that they can now display forever with the pride of a Madison Height's student.

Although half of their high school career is behind them, they feel that they still have many things to accomplish in their junior and senior years in order to make the class of '65 the greatest ever.

Phil Faris represented his class in Student Council as the Freshman Representative-at-large.

The freshman year was the first of four unforgettable years; it was a year of new friends, new ideas, and new experiences. Previously formed opinions and impressions of high school life were adjusted to meet new standards.

In each mind there was the question: "What will the next three years mean to me?" Slowly, each student found that he cared what he was to accomplish during his high school years. The experiences and examples of upperclassmen were immeasurably important.

But almost as soon as it began, the first year of high school was completed. The freshman year was that important first step to future achievement.

Acknowledgments . . .

"What do you mean it was supposed to be a vertical picture?" "Where did I put that shipping order?" "But I've typed that twice already!" These familiar cries of the annual staff have not been heard in the upper south gym bleachers since the staff's last deadline -- March 1st. The annual is no longer being assembled; it is now completed. Although the 1962-63 TREASURE CHEST Staff spent much time planning the yearbook, taking pictures, drawing layouts, and writing copy, the yearbook could never have been completed without the help of many people.

We, the Annual Staff, cannot thank each of you personally. However, there are some persons whom we wish to acknowledge publicly for the service they rendered to us. We wish to thank the members of the English Department for the time they spent checking and rechecking copy for parallel structure and the smallest grammatical error, Mr. Riley of the Art Department for his help with the art work, and other members of the faculty and administration who helped us in various ways.

We would like to thank Bob Foland and Jim Doenges for the pictures they took, the Anderson Newspapers and the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS for pictures taken by their photographers, and Mr. Russ Forkner of Elite Studio for the action pictures taken at athletic events, the group pictures taken at school, and the "queen" pictures taken in his studio. We would also like to thank Mr. Doyle Fox of Delmar Studios for his expert advice and Mr. Richard Brier for his help at Indiana High School Journalism Institute. And we would like to especially thank the JOLLY ROGER Staff for their help and cooperation at deadline time. To Delmar Printing Company of Charlotte, N.C., we express gratitude for the part it played in printing this yearbook.

Our greatest thanks, however, must go to Mr. Joseph Mitchell for his invaluable assistance - in helping us with layouts and copy, in encouraging us when we very badly needed it, in tolerating us every day, and in helping us in many other ways. Without him, this book would not have been possible.

THE ANNUAL STAFF

With the annual all finished, Jama and Kathy lock up the Annual room.

To a super cute
a real guy. I'm glad I got to know you better. May we always be the best of friends. Best Wishes
Love ya & Pete
Sandy

Bog-
a real sweet guy that helps liven up the class. Be sure to keep your good humor and personality. Try and be good okay?
Hope to see ya this summer

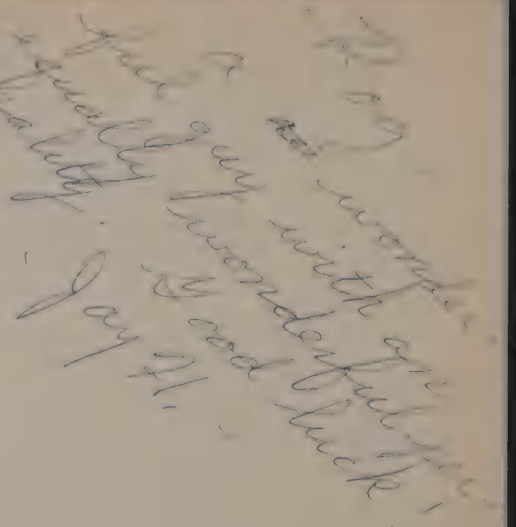
Love ya
Bonnie



TO LITTLE "D"

I WAS THINKING ABOUT WHO YOU RESEMBLE BUT I HAVE FINALLY COME TO MY SENSES. YOU REMIND ME OF DANNY THOMAS (NOSE) JOKES AND ALL.

GOOD LUCK

Bruce Gould

"Rog"
You a real nice guy with a swell personality. I wish I could have met you sooner.
Best Wishes
Dan Gethers

- Roger -

To the one guy who will always come first in my life, and I truly mean that, even though you always don't believe me.

You're a wonderful person, from all points of view (especially my point of view).

I hope we can always remain as close as we are now, and like each other as much as we do now. Can we?

As I said before, you're the sharpest, sweetest, most considerate person I have ever met and hope to ever meet. That's just one reason I love you as much as I do, I could go on forever and ever telling you all the reasons I like you so much, but there isn't that much paper and ink in the whole world. So I will limit it to one page. I'm sorry!

I hope we can see a lot of each other this summer, maybe even everyday. I hope so!

Good luck in everything you try to do, but I know you will succeed. You know I'll always have my fingers crossed for you, but you won't need it.

Love forever,
Sue

P.S. Be good and mind your manners! (over)

P.S.S. I was just teasing!

Roger-
To the "sweetest" double-crosser
I ever knew, know, or ever hope to meet!
I surely there can't be another guy quite like you, it would be just my luck! Seriously, I wish you all the best. I hope we can always be good friends..... or at least on speaking terms.
Best Wishes for a Happy Future!!
Carolyn

Roger—
That was some letter Lee wrote wasn't it? You've got it made man!
I wish I did. You've really got yourself a girl. I've enjoyed having you in my class. Hope we grad.
this year.
Let's together in "66"
Note to luck in your History to come. Please years the same. [illegible]
I'll sure need it.
Keep up the good work in Hist, and also
Lee.
Dick

Roger-
To a real nice guy. May we always be best of friends for the years to come. Be good and stay out of trouble. Good luck in the future.
Linda

Roger—
A real swell
guy and a good friend.
Also, The best Kleptomaniac
this school has ever had.
Keep up the good work.
Steve "66" Cronk

Roger,
I must think of a rhyme,
at this time,
To put in this book,
That you did look.
To Roger, a real sharp guy in all my classes.
Good luck in all your endeavors.
